Dear Sirs,

Please do not approve and implement the Delta water diversion plan. This is a cherished and delicate eco system. It is worth far more than just the fresh water that it could provide to other parts of the state. There is no telling what diverting so much water will do to the Delta, and it will surely have a very serious negative effect on it. One thing is for certain: this plan will not cure Southern California's water woes, and it will not be too long when legislators and businesses will be looking again for other solutions for more water after the Delta is ruined and not producing enough water. Please look for other solutions to the water problems in Southern California before you ruin one of the most beautiful ecosystems in all of the world because Southern California uses too much water.
