Emerging Climate Science Symposium

Exploring cutting-edge climate research and its incorporation into decision-making

September 16-17, 2025 Location: UC Davis, Putah Creek Lodge

9:00 AM to 4:30 PM

Event Details:

The Delta Independent Science Board is hosting a two-day symposium on emerging climate science research. Through presentations, panel discussions, and a breakout group activity, the symposium will explore the current climate projections for the Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta and related uncertainties and how the current state of climate science is being integrated into decision-making in the Delta. The symposium will help identify information gaps that should be incorporated into existing decision support models and assess how current management approaches align with the latest research in the field.

For more about the symposium, please refer to the prospectus.

Registration is free. Register to attend in person or virtually. Registration is optional, but encouraged to help with planning.
