Below is a copy of the letter template, along with customized letters. All contact information of individuals who submitted this correspondence is at the end of this document. Subject: The Delta Conveyance Project is NOT a solution to drought and climate change.

Dear Delta Independent Science Board,

For years, the freshwater flowing into the Delta has been overdrawn, resulting in loss of habitat, fish, and wildlife. Now, because of climate change, the Delta is also suffering from increased algal blooms that put Delta communities at risk. We need to keep flow standards strong, and the best available science shows that the Delta tunnel will exacerbate these issues.

The Delta tunnel is NOT a solution to drought and sea level rise, and will not provide new water in an era of climate change. In fact, according to recent studies, the snowmelt from the Sierra Nevada that feeds the small rivers and tributaries that flow into the Sacramento River could disappear in 25 years.

The state can and must meet its water demands sustainably and reliably by focusing its investments on recycling, conservation, water efficiency, storm-water capture and better ground water management for urban and agricultural users. A new study released by the Pacific Institute, "The Untapped Potential of California's Water Supply: Urban Efficiency, Water Reuse, and Stormwater Capture?", reveals the state could reduce urban water use by 30-48% through investments in water efficiency measures.

I urge the Delta Independent Science Board to use the best available science to fully analyze the impacts the proposed Delta Conveyance Project will have on communities and ecosystems in the Delta.

Sincerely,

[Signature; See Table 1]
