

SCIENCE FOR COMMUNITIES WORKSHOP

October 6, 2022

Big Break Regional Shoreline

3:00 PM – 7:00 PM

#sciforcommunities

Event Details:

The Delta Stewardship Council is organizing an in-person workshop, Science for Communities, to foster opportunities for scientists to contribute to communities and communities to contribute to science. The goal is to boost Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta community awareness of and access to the environmental data and technical tools that are available to them.

This workshop will showcase the collaborations formed between science and community partners to meet important Delta issues with data-driven solutions. It will consist of a plenary presentation, panel discussions, and networking opportunities.

Registration information will be distributed in late summer 2022. In the meantime, learn more about the workshop in this blog.

Questions? Email sciforcommunities@deltacouncil.ca.gov.

Delta Stewardship Council

A CALIFORNIA STATE AGENCY