

Delta Science Tracker Webinar

October 8, 2024

Zoom

12:00-1:00 PM

#deltasciencetracker

Event Details:

The Delta Science Program is hosting a public webinar to share information about the Delta Science Tracker. The webinar will introduce attendees to the major features of the web-based tool, explain its uses and the benefits it provides to Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta science community members, and demonstrate how it is being used to assess progress toward implementing the 2022-2026 Science Action Agenda. Researchers, managers, decision-makers, and other interested parties are encouraged to attend.

The Delta Science Tracker houses a living, comprehensive inventory of scientific research and monitoring activities conducted in the Delta. It allows users to search activities, create visualizations, summarize information about science funding and collaborations, and access reports, publications, and other products generated by these activities. It promotes communication and transparency for science activities and their outcomes, funding opportunities and expenditures, and opportunities for collaboration. Scan the QR code below to dive in!
